CRAWFORDSVILLE ART LEAGUE PRESENTS

FALL ART EXHIBIT

REGIONAL JURIED ART

in Downtown Store Windows

Art

September 28 to October 7, 2007

Bringing art and people to our downtowns is one of the most visible and concrete decisions we can make to build strong communities. Just as art is an expression of the artist's soul, a downtown is an expression of the community's soul — past, present, and future. Come! Experience the art! Listen to the jazz! Take time to experience the rich history of this wonderful Indiana town and be a part of shaping it's future.

Judy O'Bannon

The Art League Woodcut

Fred Vance, who was one of the first six artists to be named as honorary members in 1903, designed the Art League woodcut of a Greek shepherd boy. His design has been used every year since 1908 as the cover for the Art League yearbook.

You've heard the phrase that says things improve with age. It is certainly true of our six-year-old Downtown Art Exhibit. This wonderful project, born of the dreams and determination of a few, has grown in many ways over the past six years. The Exhibit has grown in stature and variety. We have more people helping with the donation of their resources, more artists entering, and more members joining the Art League. We are grateful to each and every one.

The Art League and the Downtown Art Exhibit were established to nurture and showcase the treasures that are Crawfordsville's heart and soul — her people and their gifts. We have enjoyed providing a venue for so many fine artists from several counties. As proud guardians of this vital community offering, we are so very happy to welcome you to our downtown and invite you to enjoy the pleasures of our community.
