QUICK NOTE FOR THE CLASS OF '77: Hi Guys! June 30 and the end of Wabash's fiscal year is fast approaching. I'm not big into "give big money" communications, but having been back to campus several times in the past six months I can assure you that the college is being an excellent steward of its funds. I saw some new dormitories on campus whose construction was supported through contributions from alumni and friends of the college. Seymour House and Rogge Hall (pictured below) are two of the new dorms.

If you missed the opportunity to support Wabash on the April 27 "Day of Giving," when more than 3,500 alumni and friends donated over $550,00 for the campus, the end of the college's fiscal year provides another chance for you to help Alma Mater. You can go to www.wabash.edu/giving/give and complete the process in just a couple of minutes. The size of the amount isn't important as a good quantity of Class of '77 supporting the college. Thanks!

CLASS NEWS: Dr. Steve Brownlee is a head and neck surgeon in Tulsa. After Wabash, Steve went to Oklahoma University's Medical School and then did a five-year residency at Parkland Hospital. In June 1986, he opened a solo practice, then joined an Eastern Oklahoma ENT practice. Karen and Steve are pictured here with their four sons and two daughters in law. They shared this picture on social media at a recent family wedding. Great reconnecting with you, Steve and Karen.

Finally – Remember, if your travels bring you to NE Ohio, be sure to look Kathy and me up. We have Rock and Roll Hall of Fame tickets, coffee and/or a meal, good conversation, and maybe even a visit to the NBA Champion Cleveland Cavaliers' home court in store for you! We had a delightful time with the Fergusons (Paul and Christy when they visited in May. We hope to see/reconnect with you also.

Best for Wabash,

John
