3. News from Wabash:

- Three Wabash College students have earned Fulbright Scholarships as English Teaching Assistants (ETA). It marks the second consecutive year in which Wabash has had three Fulbright recipients. The trio of Ben Finley '15, David Gunderman '15, and Patrick Rezek '15 plan to serve assistantships in Argentina, Germany, and Poland, respectively. Add that to their classmate, Jacob Burnett's Rhodes scholarship and you can see that the fame of Wabash's honored name is continuing to spread around the world. See more at: http://www.wabash.edu/news/displaystory.cfm?news_ID=10530

- The College held another “Day of Giving” event on 4/22. More than 2,500 alumni and friends of the College gave half a million dollars in just 24 hours. A big “Thank you” to all the folks who participated in the big day. See more at: <http://www.wabash.edu/422/>
- Wabash College President Gregory Hess announced the appointment of Michael F. Thorp as Dean for Enrollment Management at the liberal arts college for men. You might remember Michael Thorp as one of those young whippersnappers in the class of '86. - See more at: http://www.wabash.edu/news/displaystory.cfm?news_ID=10515
- If you want to help Dean Thorp, you can send some referrals to the Admissions Office. You can make them online at: <http://www.wabash.edu/alumni/student/refer>

P.S. “FREE BEER in the end zone! Go Team Go!” Speaking of donations and the Big Bash Party, the Alumni Office says that if we meet our class donations goal by May 27, we get an open (instead of cash) bar for the Class Dinner on Saturday night. So if your coming to the party and haven't sent a donation to the College since last July, now would be an excellent time to do it. If you can't make the party but can help the class meet our goal, you can be sure we'll raise a glass in thanks to you. The goal is within reach, so let's go get it!
