It's easy to register. Just click right here: <http://www.wabash.edu/alumni/reunion/schedule>

We have heard from many not currently on this list with 'plans' to join this awesome group. Well, time is running out to stand by those so-called plans and make a commitment! Whether it's for 1 day or 3 days, this year's Big Bash will be an opportunity to re-connect with pledge brothers, roommates, teammates, classmates, club mates, lab partners. It's also a time to meet new friends and make new connections, now ten years removed from the good ol' days. It will be a time to hear about unique and remarkable things fellow Wallies are doing in their lives. Heck, it'll be a time to accomplish Chapel Sing, as a whole class, without any of the "extracurriculars." Lastly, it can be a time to re-connect with Wabash. Without fail, just getting those boots back on those grounds renews an internal energy and affiliation with our beloved Alma Mater.

I know not every one of you has the desire, the means, or availability to partake in any of the above. That's okay. For those that sincerely do though, we hope you are able to make the necessary arrangements to join us June 5th – 7th. Here you go again:

<http://www.wabash.edu/alumni/reunion/schedule>. In terms of lodging, local hotel rooms are blocked off until May 5th. You also have the option of a room in Wolcott/Morris if you want to stay close to the action and partake in some late night camaraderie.

Next time you hear from us, that big red number up top will have dropped and we hope that the list of bold names will have grown proportionally. For those registered, we'll soon be reaching out with more specific details regarding any class plans, hospitality suites, etc that are in the works.

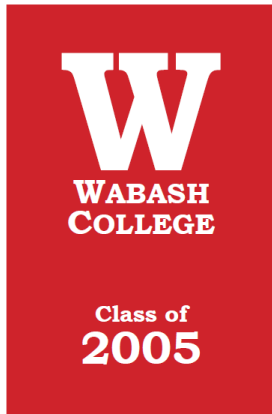

Wabash Always Fights!
