Classmates,

Wabash had a terrific Class Agent forum for us on Sept. 12, and we'll get into that with another letter soon. But over the weekend I received a few text messages from a classmate which just saddened and surprised me.

Here's a word-for-word description:

"...I'm now post 4 days from radical prostatectomy that I had ... on Tuesday."

"This is getting old it's my third cancer in three years, every summer I have another one. Fortunately I think all of it's curable but it's starting to get pretty tiring."

I'm sharing this with you because tomorrow is not guaranteed. Mortality for us all will come, sooner or later. My friend's health situation is a powerful reminder of that fact.

There's a line in Old Wabash that has a ton of heart-touching meaning:

"When college days are passed, as long as life shall last..."

So if you possibly can, show up for Homecoming September 24, 25 and 26. Below is a link to events. The Saturday homecoming lunch is "sold out" (no more space) but the Friday night Athletics Hall of Fame (one of the inductees is BOB EINTERZ'S son Seth) and other events (including the football game at 2 pm) still have tickets available.

Here is a link for registration. You do NOT need to register to attend some events, such as the Alumni Chapel. Homecoming | Wabash College

Do what you can to be there. I'll be there, and I'd love to see you. Greg and Herm will be there too, as Greg receives the college's alumni lifetime achievement award in Alumni Chapel on Saturday morning.

Best for Wabash ALWAYS,

John
