Dear Classmates,

I hope you all are doing well. I want to jump right into our 35th Reunion coming up during Big Bash weekend, June 5-7. There's a ton of information online and registration is open at this link: wabash.edu/bigbash. In fact, I see Kim Jackson is already signed up!

As the largest class to matriculate and graduate from Wabash, it is our obligation to lead the other classes. The record number of attendees for a 35th Class Reunion is 50, so I say we break it. By a lot. We still hold the record for a 20th Reunion, but I don't know what happened for the last two.

We have a group of men from each house helping us generate excitement and attendance for the reunion, so look out for their communication. As for us Independents, we have a few dedicated volunteers who are also helping, but we lack some of the ongoing connections that Pledge Brothers have, so it can be more of a struggle to drive attendance. So, I'm asking any of us Independents who are going to our Reunion to connect with someone you remain in touch with and make sure they go as well. I'm looking at you, Eric Lee!

There will be more information coming soon regarding the Annual Day of Giving, so keep an eye out for that. We are always looking for people to step up and be a matching donor. If you're interested, please let any of the Class Agents know, and we'll get you on the list.

This is a challenging time for colleges and universities, and Wabash is not immune to these circumstances. But, due to great leadership, Wabash continues to excel. I'm not sure how many of you saw the recent report from the latest Board of Trustees meeting, but the news was very impressive. A copy is available here: <https://mailchi.mp/wabash/wabash-board-of-trustees-newsletter-4872022?e=04e88c5b03>.

That's all for now. I hope to see many of your names popping up on the Big Bash registration page. Take care everyone.

Wabash Always Fights!

- Kip
