Wabash Named Indiana's Best Liberal Arts College

We are happy to report that U.S. News & World Report has rated Wabash College as the top liberal arts college in Indiana for the second consecutive year. This was one of many high rankings received by the College.

The College's website notes:

In its 2027 edition of its annual college guide, "The Best Value Colleges," The Princeton Review rated Wabash second nationally for Best Alumni Network, No. 4 for Best Schools for Internships, and No. 48 in Best Value Colleges among private colleges and universities.

And in an all-new category, Wabash ranked No. 5 nationally in the list of Best Schools for Making an Impact, which is based on student survey responses to questions covering community service opportunities, student government, sustainability efforts, and on-campus student engagement.

More than 650 colleges and universities were surveyed for The Princeton Review's 2027 value list. That Wabash was included among the 209 colleges included on the list indicates that the 194-year-old liberal arts institution earned a high return on investment (ROI) rating. By ranking inside the top 50, Wabash is among the seven percent of institutions nationally.

Monon Bell Telecasts

For the first time since 1922, the Monon Bell Classic will be played at a neutral site: Scheumann Stadium at Ball State University. The Wabash Club of Indianapolis will be hosting three Monon Bell telecast parties across the Indy area. The northside watch party will be held at District Tap-Keystone, the central location will be hosted at Cholita in Broad Ripple, and the southside party venue is changing from MashCraft to Peppers Bar and Grill. Please take note of the venue change, especially if you have RSVP'd already. The 132nd Monon Bell game will be played on Saturday, November 14 at 1:07 PM ET, so come early, get fired up and wear your scarlet and white.

Tyler Wade Becomes New Dean for Enrollment Management

After a national search, Wabash hired Tyler Wade as the new Dean for Enrollment Management. He had held the position on an interim basis.

Dean Wade is a 2012 Wabash graduate. After graduating from Wabash, he earned a master's degree at Miami University. He has held multiple positions in the admissions office. He has been actively involved in the recruitment of men to Wabash, served as interim director of financial aid, and has been a key contributor to the College's efforts to attract out of state students to the College.
