Honor Roll 2003-2004

From the President

Dear Friends,

Congratulations to all who helped make the Wabash College Campaign for Leadership the extraordinary success it was! The Campaign raised over $136 million, far out-pacing the original $100 mill goal. It provided the financing for immediate campus improvements and assured the College's sound financial status for years to come. The Campaign did all that and much more.

One of our most important Campaign goals was re-connecting Wabash and her sons around the country. Since it is difficult for many of you to travel to Wabash, we brought Wabash to you—in the form of popular professors who taught classes to alumni groups from California to New York. These "Wabash on the Road" events let alumni experience what current Wabash men are hearing and thinking about in class; they also brought Wabash men of different generations together. The Campaign engaged hundreds of alumni as recruiters for the College; we saw a big increase in the number of prospective students.

There are beautiful new buildings on campus now, places that encourage good teaching, learning and research. Students and faculty have finer equipment to use in their intellectual explorations. There are more opportunities for national and international travel. The immersion learning trips literally open the world to young Wabash men who learn how small it is and how much they are a part of it.

Over the long life of this College there have been many honorable moments when the men and women who love Wabash have stood to be counted in its behalf, but I daresay there has never been anything like the munificence of the campaign for Leadership. You revealed your affection for Wabash in every way: your visits; financial generosity; volunteering to help recruit students; calls on your classmates to solicit money; and, service on advisory committees.

In the six years of the Campaign for Leadership, you propelled Wabash College into this new century and you have infused it with energy. You have provided what it needs now and you have guaranteed a strong future.

You have the heartfelt thanks and gratitude of all of us privileged to have a part in maintaining the College.

Sincerely,

From the Dean for Advancement

Dear Alumni, Parents, and Friends of Wabash College,

Among the thousands of letters and notes I write each year, this is among my favorites because it gives me another opportunity to thank you for investing in Wabash's mission to educate young men to think critically, act responsibly, lead effectively, and live humanely.

I hope you'll enjoy reading through this year's Honor Roll, seeing not only your own name but the names of the other Wabash faithful who have given of themselves to help our students. Gifts of all sizes and types are honored here. Gifts of time—those who volunteered to help Wabash in myriad of ways—are honored here. Your class, your giving clubs are honored here.

As you peruse this year's report I hope you'll take time to reflect on and celebrate a great year. In 2003-2004 you helped us win the Campaign for Leadership with over $136 million in gifts and pledges. You helped us record the third highest annual giving total in College history (let's strive for the highest in next year's Honor Roll!). You helped us engage more volunteers than at any other time in the school's history. More importantly, you directly supported 850 talented young men who have enjoyed state-of-the-art learning facilities, new living facilities, off-campus programs available to them without additional costs, and new undergraduate research opportunities.

This is all a result of your generosity and dedication to Wabash's students. It is my pleasure to thank you for all you have done to make our great College a better place. I look forward to writing to you again next year.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Joseph R. Emmick".

Joseph R. Emmick '92
Dean for Advancement

From the Chief Financial Officer

Dear Friends,

It is with great pleasure that I present the financial highlights of our fiscal year ended June 30, 2004. The College continued to benefit from the strong financial resources that have accumulated throughout the years. Careful management of expenditures by College faculty and staff and the continued generous support from Trustees, alumni, and friends allowed Wabash to continue to pursue its mission of teaching and learning in spite of the uncertainty in the financial markets. The College ended the year with a surplus that allowed us to increase the plant reserves more than anticipated.

With an addition to the endowment of $1.3 million from gifts, the market value of the pooled endowment ended the fiscal year at approximately $300.0 million, representing a return on investments of 19.4 percent. The Investment Policy Committee of the Board of Trustees continued to maintain a diversified portfolio of investment instruments combined with an asset allocation strategy that allowed the endowment to maintain market value. The endowment per-student continues to top the GLCA schools and continues to place Wabash near the top of private schools in the nation.

Total gifts and pledges for the fiscal year were in excess of $19.9 million. Unrestricted gifts to the Annual Fund were in excess of $2.66 million, with more than 35 percent participation from Wabash alumni. Student revenue only covers approximately one-third of total operating costs; the Annual Fund is an important source of revenue to help bridge the gap. The College greatly appreciates the continued support of alumni and friends who make gifts annually.

A number of significant construction projects were completed over the course of the year, including the renovation and equipping of Goodrich Hall. A major mechanical upgrade took place in the Fine Arts Center, and the new house for the Sigma Chi fraternity was completed. Plans were completed and bids received for the construction of the new Phi Delt house, and the demolition of the old house began late in July, 2004.

This has been another good year for the College as we saw plans come to fruition and began the challenge of meeting a new set of needs for the coming academic year. We thank all of you for your continued support in both time and money and remain committed to being good stewards of the resources that you have entrusted to us.

Respectfully,

From the Chairman of the Campaign for Leadership

Dear Friends,

I thought after more than 50 years of close involvement with Wabash College, I knew it quite well. But my involvement with the Campaign for Leadership has shown me how deeply my fellow alumni, your families, and friends care about the place and how remarkably generous you are. You good men and women have put your thought, energy, and money into making Wabash a stronger and better place for young men to learn about the world around them and their places in it.

You deserve the heartiest congratulations on your commitment to this effort, and I am happy to give them. All who work at the College join me. Our students certainly do, too. Their learning opportunities have grown because of you. Many live or soon will live in more pleasant fraternity houses because of you. Scientists have state-of-the-art facilities and equipment. Athletes and many other folks on campus who work at staying healthy and fit appreciate the excellent facilities now available to them. Wabash students have the fine Malcolm X Center for their own and others' use. Members of the faculty, both long-term and new, appreciate the new opportunities you have given them to expand their own scholarship and to provide their students with more ways to learn.

One of the Campaign's most successful outcomes was the renewed connection between many of you alumni and Wabash. I saw this in my travels all over the country, meeting with Wabash men and their families. I was moved again and again by learning how much your alma mater means to you. You understand how important it is that Wabash College continues to do for future generations what it did for you. In the Campaign for Leadership you have made that possible.

Thank you, loyal sons and friends of Wabash.

Sincerely,

Thomas A. Hays '55

From the Chairman of the 1832 Society

Dear Alumni and Friends,

Having recently completed the most successful fund-raising campaign in the history of Wabash College, you have earned the right to feel very proud of the accomplishment. For Wabash, the Campaign for Leadership was historic in its size and impact on the campus. All of you whose names are listed in this Honor Roll made such success possible with your gifts of money, service, and creativity.

As chairman of the 1832 Society, I want to tell you how very grateful we are for your philanthropic leadership and how much we hope you will continue to be engaged in the planning and carrying out of the Wabash agenda. Two important issues have already been identified: career guidance and preparation for our students; and the places on campus where the ethos of Wabash and the definition of a "gentleman" are identified and lived out.

I truly hope you will stay firmly committed to Wabash for the next phase of our endeavor. The Campaign for Leadership was obviously about the capacity of Wabash College to make a difference in the lives of young men and hence, the world, but it is your leadership in giving that makes it all possible.

Yours sincerely,

Kevin G. Clifford '77
Chairman, The 1832 Society

From the Chairman of the Wabash College Annual Fund

Dear Wabash Friends and Families,

I appreciate the opportunity to add my congratulations and thanks to those expressed by President Andy Ford H'03 and Campaign Chairman Tom Hays '55 for the extraordinary support you have given to Wabash College this year and throughout the entire duration of the Campaign.

The Campaign for Leadership made a distinctive impact on Wabash almost as soon as it began. There was no waiting around for something to happen. Your generosity bore tangible results almost immediately. Seeing visible progress, all of us wanted more of it.

As Chair of the Wabash College Annual Fund, I ask you to remember how good it felt to see your financial contributions translated directly into benefits for Wabash. It is the same sense of accomplishment generated by gifts to the Annual Fund because those dollars go directly into the operating budget of the College. In fact, they constitute a critically important percentage of the annual operating budget every year.

In this publication, we are celebrating all of you who gave $2,664,706 to the Annual Fund this year. I can speak for all the people on campus who truly appreciate your participation in the life of the College when I thank you for your support. I also encourage you to contribute to the Annual Fund next year, as well. The need is ongoing, but so is the sense of satisfaction you will feel when you have helped Wabash continue its good work.

Sincerely,

From the Director of Alumni Affairs

Dear Friends,

I want to take this opportunity to tell all of you in the greater Wabash family—alumni, parents, and friends—thanks for all you do for Wabash. Wabash remains a special place in a timeless fashion. It's an environment that truly embraces each and every young man who sets foot on campus. Of course, you know that. And each time you return to campus, you quickly can relive those days that were yours at the 'Bash.

The real beauty of working at the College is watching the transformation of these young men. There are several seniors here whom I helped recruit. From scrawny high school students, some with green hair, to campus leaders about to go out and, in answer to President Andy Ford's challenge, change the world. Change the world!

There's Mark Dietzen '05, who is one of the finest young men I have ever met—a guy involved in virtually every worthwhile cause at Wabash. There's Robert Alexander '05 from Chaminade-Julienne High School in Dayton, Ohio. He's now president of the Malcolm X Institute. There's Mark Novakovich '05 from Lemont, Illinois. He spent last summer doing an internship in New York City. There's Jacob Rump '05—a gifted young man—you probably have seen his column in The Bachelor. I'm proud of these guys. They are already difference makers and will be even more so in the coming years.

Yes, I helped recruit them to Wabash but you, you made it possible for them to attend and you provided the resources for them to excel. Your continued support of the College allows young men of promise to attend Wabash. Your continued support allows us to assemble a great faculty in a superb educational environment. Your continued support means every young man at Wabash has opportunities above and beyond—like externships, internships, immersion trips, and summer research projects. Your support has touched virtually every one of our 860 young men.

I know Mark, Robert, Mark, and Jacob appreciate what you have done for them and the countless others here at Wabash. I can assure you that your investment in these young men will continue to pay dividends for a long time.

Thanks again,

Tom Runge '71
Director of Alumni Affairs

The Society of Wabash Class Agents 2003-2004

1

The Society of Wabash Class Agents was established in 1956 by Myron G. "Phil" Phillips '27, director of alumni affairs. Class agent letters keep classmates connected to the College and each other by collecting and sharing information on what is happening on campus and with fellow class alumni.

WABASH COLLEGE

President's Club

1

In 1987, the Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Wabash College established a special forum for those men and women who give a tangible expression of their deep and continuing commitment to the future of Wabash College through lifetime giving to the College of $100,000 or more.

In addition to an outright gift, other avenues for funding a President's Club gift to the College include the pooled income fund, a charitable annuity program or trust arrangement, and an endowment life insurance policy.

From the Coordinator of Volunteer Services

Dear Wabash Friends,

"Help!" began the distressed e-mail from a professional colleague at a very good small, liberal arts institution. "How can I get my alumni to volunteer for those important positions? We can't get them to say yes."

What an unusual place Wabash is. You create a community that surrounds students from the moment they begin to think about this institution until the day you—their Wabash friends—attend that final memorial service. And after that, you continue to include the spouse in that community forever.

What is it that caused 1,916 of you to say "yes" 3,433 times when we asked you to do something for Wabash College in 2003-2004?

I questioned the alumni who returned to Wabash for focus groups last winter. "Because I owe the College so much," one alumnus from the 1960s answered. "Simply because you asked me!" said another man from the 80s. "Keep it simple, make it short-term," responded a younger alumnus from the 90s, a man with small children who lived a long way from Indiana. We've tried to honor those motives and incorporate those directions as we've asked you.

Yet I know that some volunteer responsibilities are lonely ones. I think about those of you who have single-handedly begun regional alumni luncheons in places where it's not always easy to get men together on a regular basis. I remember the alumnus who told me recently that he has a telephone list that he calls personally before every event to get alumni to come. I watch as men from the 50th reunion classes identify leadership for the most important Wabash gathering since their commencement—and smile—as they convince their classmates, whose lives have taken them far in both distance and time from Wabash, to return, to participate, to become a part of the family again.

There are national days, weeks, and months set aside to thank volunteers. But we at Wabash thank you every day as you continue to do the work of your alma mater—housing that student who wants to do an internship in a city where living arrangements are very expensive; paying airfare for a prospective student who ought to see this place but can't afford it; coaching that student who is bright but hasn't yet found himself; calling us to tell us about a position in your firm; returning to campus in the summer to share your experiences with business hopefuls; or calling your pledge brothers to remind them about the importance of supporting a renovated or new fraternity house.

We salute you and your families, for there are many spouses, children, and parents of Wabash men on this list, for all you do for every generation of Wabash men. You are Some Little Giants!

Sincerely,

Nancy J. Doemel

National Association of Wabash Men

The National Association of Wabash Men (NAWM) is the alumni association of Wabash College to which all alumni, as defined by the College, are members.

The NAWM Board of Directors is the Association's governing body whose mission is to help facilitate integration of the College's alumni, students, administration, parents, faculty, and friends in order to help the Association achieve its goals and ultimately help the College achieve its mission of "educating men to think critically, act responsibly, lead effectively, and live humanely."
